California Alliance Looms With Lodge

Rockefeller Pulls Upset Victory In Oregon Vote

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller swept to an upset victory in the Oregon primary that turned the tables on Henry Cabot Lodge and set the stage for a possible California alliance between the two Republican presidential hopefuls.

Lodge men, stunned by the setback in an Oregon race they had expected to win, headed for Los Angeles to talk over their next move.

Rockefeller, the only personal campaigner in a six-candidate field, left Lodge well behind in second place in Oregon's Friday balloting.

There were reports the Lodge forces were ready to throw their weight behind Rockefeller in California's primary June 2. Paul Grindle, a leader of the campaign for the ambassador, denied this.

Grindle said, however, that the high command of the Lodge movement would explore the situation in general — and California, in particular — at the Los Angeles meeting.

Rockefeller and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, who ran third in Oregon, are alone on the ballot there. No write-in votes will be counted in their head-on clash for 86 GOP national convention delegates.

Whatever the Lodge organization does in California, Rockefeller hoped the Oregon victory would thrust him toward another triumph there.

Rockefeller, cast as the underdog in Oregon, has the same role in California.

The Oregon triumph awarded Rockefeller 18 convention votes.

It was a write-in upset in New Hampshire presidential primary that first propelled Lodge—absent and undeclared—into the battle for the Republican nomination.

Rockefeller's Oregon upset victory appeared to have knocked him out of it.

Goldwater and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon ran far behind Rockefeller and Lodge in Oregon.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who neither campaigned nor had Oregon allies at work, split a relative handful of primary votes.

With 2,572 of Oregon's 3,251 precincts counted, the Republican race stacked up this way: Rockefeller 62,848, Lodge 51,484, Goldwater 33,924, Nixon 32,241, Smith 5,424, Scranton 3,152.

That gave Rockefeller 33 per cent of the vote and Lodge 27 per cent. These percentages stood from the very first sprinkling of votes Friday night.

Rockefeller, who spent a month stumping Oregon, heard the returns at his home in Tarrytown, N.Y., and said: "I have but one reaction tonight... and that is my feeling of deep gratitude to the people of that state for the victory they have given me."

With the Oregon upset, Rockefeller appeared to have shaken for the first time the shadow issue of his divorce and his remarriage a year ago to the divorced mother of four children. The second Mrs. Rockefeller expects a baby in about two weeks.

"I think the Oregon victory put the Rockefeller divorce matter more in its true focus," said Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, "and Oregonians showed they voted for the man and what he stands for rather than any labels he may have or his personal affairs."

Then Hatfield—who stayed neutral in the Oregon campaign—dispatched this telegram to the New York governor: "Your victory here is a great personal one and is the result of your vigorous presentation of yourself and the issues to the people of Oregon."

Red Korea Releases 2 U.S. Pilots

Says UN Command Acknowledged Pair Guilty Of Violation

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korean Communists today released two American helicopter pilots forced down by gunfire last May, then claimed the U.N. Command had acknowledged the pilots committed a border violation on an espionage mission.

A United Nations Command spokesman confirmed delivery of a receipt for the prisoners admitting they committed espionage. But he said later, that the admission "is, of course, meaningless."

Capt. Ben. W. Stutts, 31, Florence, Ala., and Carleton W. Voltz, 27, Frankfort, Mich., the pilots, were flown to Seoul, where doctors said they were in good condition.

They were to rest overnight in the U.S. Army hospital before questioning by intelligence officers.

The pilots, who quickly changed from drab cotton Communist uniforms into U.S. Army khaki, were not permitted to talk to newsmen.

In Seoul, the U.N. spokesman, U.S. Army Col. George Creel, explained the advance receipt and its admission of espionage in a statement.

"UNC representatives were prepared to sign and did sign a receipt which, pursuant to KPA—Communist North Korean army—demands as a condition for the release of the pilots included a statement that the helicopter pilots committed espionage," the statement said.

"Such an admission is, of course, meaningless."

"The two pilots were in uniform and engaged in an assigned military mission, specifically that of checking aircraft warning markers south of the DMZ—demilitarized zone—and, therefore, clearly were not engaged in espionage."

"The record is clear, the facts have not changed, and anybody can read the true situation from the facts of the case."

Vote Canvass Will Resume In Hancock

Completing more than half the job in a long session Friday, the staff of the Hancock County clerk will resume the official canvass of primary ballots Tuesday night at 7 in New Cumberland.

County commissioners and the staff of Mrs. Mary Stewart, county clerk, checked returns from 26 of 38 precincts Friday morning, afternoon and evening.

Only a few minor changes in tallies of candidates took place in the official canvass, none in the tight race between William C. Graham and Alvin B. Clutter for the Democratic nomination of county commissioner.

Commissioners Graham, Robert E. Roach and James Finley, and Mrs. Stewart's staff finished 26 of 38 precincts Friday night in the downstairs of the Courthouse, and hope to complete the official canvass Tuesday night.

In the Graham-Clutter race, possibilities still exist for a recount if any significant changes in vote tallies happen by the end of the official canvass, it was said.

Graham won re-nomination by 38 votes over Clutter, according to the complete but unofficial returns. Clutter may file intention of asking for a recount before the official results are certified to the secretary of state.

2 From City With Those Hospitalized

Victim Of Palestine Was Passenger; '64 County Toll Now 10

County's 1964 Traffic Toll

10 KILLED

This date in 1963—8 killed!

LOWER THE SCORE IN '64

A 19-year-old Columbiana County youth was killed and seven other persons, including two city residents, were injured in a two-car, head-on collision at 12:25 a. m. today on Route 14 three and seven-tenths miles east of Columbiana.

The victim was Robert William (Bob) Bolam, 775 W. Martin St., East Palestine.

He was a passenger in a car driven by William R. Hibbs, 22, of 190 W. Clark St., East Palestine. Mr. Bolam was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital with a fractured skull, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon. Officers said Hibbs' car collided head-on on a curve with one driven by Carolyn Elaine Boyle, 25, of 1310 Pennsylvania Ave. Both vehicles were demolished.

The woman was treated at the Salem hospital and transferred later to City Hospital here, where she was in "fair" condition with back and rib injuries.

A passenger in her car, Joseph Chan, 40, of Mulberry St., also was injured.

Other passengers in Hibbs' car were Virgil Junior Felger, 21, of 360 Lyons Ave., East Palestine; Gergette Cunningham, 15, of New Waterford R. D. 1, and Kathleen Y. Rusce, 16, and Nancy L. Evans, 19, both of Main St., New Waterford.

This was the 10th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared with eight at this time in 1963.

Mrs. Evans was in "fair" condition.

Child Dashes Into Car Path

Victim, 8, Injured Slightly In Mishap

An 8-year-old city youngster escaped with minor injuries when he ran into the path of a car on Jackson St. Friday afternoon, police reported.

James Brewer, son of Richard Brewer, 1074 Peake St., was treated at City Hospital for contusions of upper left arm in the mishap reported to police at 4:19 p. m.

The driver, Robert A. MacGillis of Canfield, told police he was headed south on Jackson St. to reach Route 30.

As he approached Church Alley, two children ran from the east side of the street. A little girl stopped but the boy continued running, MacGillis said.

He explained to officers he applied his brakes but the 1960 sedan skidded and the right front fender struck the youngster, rolling him down the street. MacGillis said he picked up the child and took him to the hospital.

Police listed William Durbin, 185 Pennsylvania Ave., Chester, as a witness.

The left rear of a parked 1960 sedan owned by Marian Sias of Maple Dr., Calcutta, was damaged at 10:28 p. m. Friday when swiped by a westbound auto driven by Byron B. Allison, 51, of 628 Florida Ave., Chester, police said.

U.N. Gets Complaint

Two New Cuban Landings Bared

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Reports of two additional anti-Castro landings circulated today amid a complaint to the United Nations from Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency—CIA—was behind it all.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, a Cuban exile group in Washington, confirmed the landings Friday and said they were carried out as the attack on a sugar mill in Port Pilon diverted the attention of Cuban armed forces.

The committee said the landing was an infiltration move, part of a long-range plan to bolster internal guerrilla forces.

A Spanish language broadcaster in Miami said there were landings on both the north and south coasts of Cuba.

Roa sent a note to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant warning that peace might be endangered by Wednesday's sugar mill raid and by arms cache found earlier off the Cuban coast.

The note said the sugar mill attack was by a pirate ship "such as the CIA operates from bases in Florida, Puerto Rico and Central America."

"Using these illegal flights of U2 planes over the national territory of Cuba, the CIA obtain information about our military installations for the organization and carrying out of these vanguardist attacks," the note continued.

The State Department, in Washington, continued to deny U.S. involvement.

In Puerto Rico, Manuel Ray, leader of an exile action group, resigned his government job. Ray, a former member of Castro's cabinet, has promised to be back on Cuban soil by May 20.

Early Decision Seen

City School Board To Air Bond Issue For Buildings

The Board of Education is expected to reach an early decision on seeking a $3,334,000 bond issue to match a $990,558 grant from the State Board of Education for construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings.

The question will be aired at the board's meeting Monday night at 7:30.

The board also will act on resignations from several teachers, including those from football and basketball coaches and make one appointment to the faculty.

It also is expected to give conditional approval to the 1964 graduating class subject to final approval from the high school faculty. Asst. Supt. George Hargraves will report on the results of the Stanford achievement test.

The grant from the state school board, which was given conditional approval at its meeting Monday, is contingent upon the city board providing $3,334,000 in local funds.

Under the provisions of the law, the board must provide the funds within 120 days or the grant will be withdrawn.

The 120-day period would indicate a special election probably would have to be scheduled in the school district in August or early September. If the four-month time limit started as of last Monday, the deadline would be Sept. 11.

Only a majority vote would be required to pass the bond issue. Supt. Paul H. Blair said. If the bond issue is not submitted or is rejected by voters, the grant apparently would be withdrawn and the funds allotted to some other school district, Blair said.

Then the board would have to submit a new application and join a lengthy list of other districts seeking a share of the $35 million public schools are to receive from a $250 million bond issue approved last November.

E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, recommended a 48-room senior high school at an estimated cost of $2,351,794; two 25-room elementary buildings at $655,558 each, and a 23-room elementary school at $627,048. The total estimated cost would be $4,324,958.

City Driver Absolved In Death Of Motorist

Washington County Coroner Farrell Jackson's office said today Donald C. Nicholson, 30, of 357 Ogden St., was exonerated in an inquest held Friday at the Courthouse at the Pennsylvania Community in the death of Harold Cecil McClelland, 60, of Washington R.D. 2.

Mr. McClelland's car was involved in a collision with a tractor-trailer rig driven by Nicholson April 10. State police said both were eastbound when the victim attempted a left turn as the rig tried to pass and the car was struck broad-

Johnson Due Huddle With 2 Top Aides

Confers With Rusk, McNamara On Aid Boost To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson confers today with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on plans for increasing military and economic aid to South Viet Nam.

Johnson told congressional leaders at a White House meeting Friday that he would ask for more funds to support a heavier U.S. commitment to the Saigon government, stung by an upsurge in terror raids by pro-Communist guerrillas.

McNamara, who returned Thursday from another inspection trip to South Viet Nam, and Rusk briefed 17 Republican and Democratic leaders and the National Security Council.

Rusk had just returned from a North Atlantic Treaty Organization council meeting in The Hague where he asked the Allies to give more assistance to the anti-Communist effort in Viet Nam.

In general the congressional leaders declined to comment on what they had heard at the briefing but Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen: "There has been no significant change. It is purely a matter of degree. It isn't a very optimistic picture."

After the meeting White House press secretary George Reedy summed it up this way: "I think it is rather obvious there will be a need for additional funds and some appropriate recommendations."

He declined to say whether Johnson would present the proposals in a special message, a speech or a budget request.

Cite Money For Trials

6 Of Teamsters Union Sue Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six members of the Teamsters Union have filed suit demanding that the union president, James R. Hoffa, and his top command repay the union money that Hoffa and other officials have used to defend themselves in criminal trials.

The six rank-and-file Teamsters, in the U.S. District Court suit Friday, also asked that the court grant an injunction forbidding further payments of such legal expenses.

Estimates of the money already spent are in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It was another in a series of sharp blows to Hoffa's position as boss of the nation's biggest union.

Even as the suit was entered here, Hoffa was sitting in a Chicago courtroom on trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the union in a $20-million loan scheme.

He also is appealing an eight-year jury-tampering conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn. — all of which costs money and keeps him from supervising the day-to-day affairs of the Teamsters, which he has run with an iron hand.

Some union sources have questioned whether Hoffa can remain in power, in the face of the court actions, without the backing of the union treasury.

Apparent Margin 179 Over Blatt

Justice Musmanno Takes Lead In U.S. Senate Bid

PHILADELPHIA — Justice Michael A. Musmanno, after trailing for nearly three weeks, suddenly swung into a precarious lead Friday over Genevieve Blatt on the basis of recap returns from all 67 counties in their race for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator.

Musmanno's apparent margin was 179 votes over the state secretary of internal affairs, first woman ever elected to statewide office in Pennsylvania.

This margin was arrived at this way: Complete official returns, including the absentee ballots, from 62 counties.

The official vote plus the unchallenged absentee ballots in Lackawanna County (about 450 ballots) and Washington County (29 ballots).

The official absentee vote in Clearfield and Somerset counties, plus the unofficial count as reported in these counties after the April 28 primary.

The unchallenged absentee totals in Philadelphia, plus the tally given by election officials after their count of all the absentee ballots. There are more than 500 absentee ballot challenges in Philadelphia also.

Most of the absentee ballot challenges in Philadelphia, Washington and Lackawanna counties are by the Blatt forces.

It thus seems likely that court rulings on these absentee may determine who the Democrats send against incumbent Hugh Scott, Republican, next November.

Musmanno, backed by 65 of the 67 county chairmen and the state party organization, had trailed by 2,521 votes in the unofficial returns from all but three precincts with the absentee ballot tally still to come.

Rights Debate Continues In Senate Today

Southerners Talk About Boycotting Democrat Caucus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate resumes Saturday sessions on the embattled civil rights bill today, with Southern senators talking of boycotting a Democratic caucus Tuesday where amendments proposed by the bipartisan leadership will be considered.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chief strategist of the Dixie forces, said he hasn't decided whether to show up or not. But he told reporters, "I don't see any useful purpose in doing so."

He added some Southerners may go but said he could "argue on the floor just as well."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., one of Russell's lieutenants, said in a separate interview that he will boycott the meeting and that others are expected to follow suit.

With the debate in its 57th day prospects for passage hinge on whether sufficient support for the leadership package of some 70 amendments can be mustered to cut off the Southern talkathon.

Adoption of cloture requires two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

Meanwhile, the debate proceeds. The leadership, while calling a Saturday session, let the Senate recess comparatively early Friday night 7:18.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has invited all Democratic senators to a conference Tuesday morning to discuss the package of amendments worked out with Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A conference of Republican senators also is set that day to go over the proposed changes, designed to drum up enough support for the cloture petition.

Stennis said the Democratic meeting isn't likely to be "a caucus at all but a strategy session by proponents, and I could not be any help."

For Memorial Day

Tri-State District Parks Prepare For New Season

Tri-State District parks are preparing for another summer season, which begins traditionally Memorial Day.

Tomlinson Run State Park at Pughtown and Raccoon Creek State Park on Route 30 already are open to picnickers but will go into full swing with the holiday May 30.

Thompson Park will open officially on Memorial Day when the municipal swimming pool also will be ready, said Joseph Walters, who is starting his first year as park superintendent. He succeeded William Bell early this year.

However, the park's 24 outdoor tables, 24 grilles and three pavilions are open now along with the tennis courts. The horseshoe courts will open soon, he added.

A new filter will be installed in the wading pool, which will provide cleaner water and make it independent of the main pool, Walters said.

A new floor has been laid in Pavilion 2 on the north side of the park in the valley opposite the swimming pool.

Gates also have been erected at the four entrances, Walters said. They now are being closed at 10 p.m., but will be kept open until 11 p.m. during the summer months.

When weather permits, hiking trails will be reopened and marked, Walters said. The trails originally were laid out in the 1930's, but have been almost overgrown and unused in recent years.

The Ohio River shore line along the River Rd., which also is supervised by the Board of Thompson Park commissioners, also is due for some changes.

East German Reds Launch Youth Rally

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists launched a mammoth youth rally in East Berlin today, offering three days of entertainment including a concert by the secret police.

Communist officials said they expected about 500,000 youngsters from throughout East Germany to show up. It is the first such rally since 1954, when hundreds used the opportunity to escape to the West.

The Reds can feel fairly safe now. They built the Berlin Wall nearly three years ago and the chances of reaching the West are remote.

About 10,000 guards, armed with submachine guns and aided by police dogs, normally guard the border around West Berlin.

Western intelligence sources said they noted a slight increase in guards since Friday.

Hundreds of special trains and buses carried youngsters to the city from scattered towns and villages.

The meeting is sponsored by the Free German Youth Organization under the patronage of Walter Ulbricht, the Communist party boss.

Ulbricht invited West German youngsters to come to East Berlin for the rally but there was no evidence that any appreciable number did so.

Wall interest, one of the most important facets of successful room decorating, can be achieved in numerous ways. Color, of course, is the most important asset. With it a room's apparent size and shape may be easily modified. Pale, receding colors have a tendency to make areas appear larger; deeper tones produce the opposite effect.

A combination of light and dark tones gives variety and often a feeling of sophistication to a room which has no architectural authority.

Light and dark shades (oyster white and elephant grey) have been used in the living room shown in the above sketch, and wall interest has been introduced with a wallpaper mural which stimulates a branch of luxuriant foliage trailing lazily across the wall.

Note how the light and dark areas have been executed to give importance to the furnishings, and how the mural follows the lines of the living room chest or hi-fi unit.

Wallpaper murals are today within the reach of every budget. We offer you a selected group of imaginatively designed patterns that will add exciting wall interest to every room in your home. Select yours soon.

You are welcome to borrow our wallpaper books and Dutch Boy Harmonizing book to select your paint color scheme. Do-it-yourself or let us do the work for you.

Patrol Seeks Hit-Skip Car After Mishap

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon is searching for a light-colored car involved in a hit-skip accident at 12:15 a.m. today on old Route 30 about one and six-tenths miles north of East Liverpool.

Officers said a car driven by Leonard W. Swisher, 49, of Fairmont was sideswiped by another that was passing. The other motorist failed to halt, Swisher reported.

Swisher said the other car was a white 1960 Chevrolet. The patrol said it will be damaged on the right side and probably have traces of dark paint from Swisher's car. Anyone with information is asked to contact the Lisbon post.

Meanwhile, officers said the principals involved in two recent hit-skip mishaps have been cited.

Bundy Warren Steele, 40, of Boardman St., New Waterford, has been charged with failure to stop after an accident. His car sideswiped another driven by Dianna J. Wudski, 21, of W. Martin St., East Palestine, last Saturday night on Route 14 near Unity.

Richard H. Reash, 40, of Columbiana R.D. 2 also has been charged with failing to stop after an accident. He was cited as the aftermath of an accident in which Oliver Gibson, 20, of New Springfield, operating a motorcycle, was hospitalized.

Gibson has been charged with driving left of center, officers said.

Charges have been filed against two involved in an accident Monday night on the Old Ironside Rd. in which four Wellsville youths were hurt.

Thomas Paul Campbell, 19, of 812 Aten Ave., Wellsville, has been charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Gerald Boggs, 16, the driver, has been cited to Juvenile Court at Lisbon, officers said.

Lions Hear Chairman

Planning Group Expects Federal Grant Approval

The Municipal Planning Commission is expecting tentative approval of an initial urban planning grant in about two weeks, Don Eckert, chairman, informed the Lions Club in discussing the program at Friday's luncheon at the Travelers Hotel.

Tentative approval is awaited from federal officials in Chicago where the proposal for the first phase is being studied, Eckert said. The plan would be forwarded to Washington for final determination.

The estimated cost of the first phase would be $49,000 with the city's share approximately $12,000, the chairman said. He explained the city is being credited with work done by the mayor, safety - service director, solicitor and engineer.

Between 18 and 24 months will be required to complete the first phase after which a second urban planning grant will be sought for another phase.

The planning area includes the city, all of Liverpool Township, the southern three-fifths of St. Clair Township, and the eastern portions of Yellow Creek and Madison Townships, Eckert said.

The study area includes the planning area, the remainder of St. Clair Township, Wellsville, additional portions of Yellow Creek and Madison Townships, the southeastern corner of Ohio Township and the northwest corner of Green Township in Pennsylvania, Chester and the northern portion of Grant District, he continued.

"Planning must consider the surrounding area since what is undertaken in one affects others," he declared.

The first phase includes preparation of an area base map, a city base map, property base map, topographic base maps, two business area maps, one of the central business district and one of Mulberry St., and an aerial photograph of the planning area.

The opening phase also will include economic base and population trends, land use, transportation plans, housing, neighborhood analysis and urban renewal, business area renewal, schools, parks and recreation and public services.

Under the second phase, a final transportation plan will be prepared along with a final technical report on the comprehensive plan, which will be a compilation of findings and recommendations, a model of the ultimate renewal plan for the central business district, and 3,000 copies of a brochure outlining key recommendations with special emphasis on downtown renewal.

After some seven years, the commission was ready to seek approval last September, but was asked by the state to delay its application because of pending changes, Eckert said.

He was introduced by Charles Huddleston, program chairman. John T. Smith, president, presided.

Insects AND YOUR HEALTH

by Jim Fisher

TERMITES vs. FIRE

Would you consider being without fire protection for your home? No? Well, did you know that termites do more damage to homes in the United States every year than fire? And did you know that even if your home is built of solid concrete it may not be safe? Did you know that a termite can go through as much as five inches of concrete and destroy 200 million dollars worth of property annually?

ALARM!

Termites often get into homes and go unnoticed while they do their greatest damage. Many times the home owner is not aware that his or her home is slowly being devoured by these little insects. They do their damage slowly --- but surely.

TO BE SAFE

There are many effective chemicals on the market that can kill termites. However, some chemicals are preferable to others in that they do a better job with more lasting results. Often a combination of chemicals is called for to do an effective and lasting job. You, as a home owner, are not expected to be an expert on these things. That is why you MUST be sure you deal with a reputable pest control service with experience, integrity and sincerity of purpose.

CALL CLARK

More will be said on the subject of termites in the coming weeks. Call me, if you like at FULTON 5-5720. I will be happy to talk with you anytime.

McNamara Needs A Moustache

One of our office skeptics, who insists he has nothing against Defense Secretary McNamara personally, was pulling his ear the other day and fearing the worst. The secretary had reached Saigon on his fifth inspection tour.

"Every time that fellow goes to South Viet Nam to report back to the White House on how well the war is going," he said, mournfully, "the other side gives us a shellacking. Wait and see."

Last Thursday, Secretary McNamara was back in Washington, telling President Johnson how well the war would be going if the United States put more muscle into it. This wasn't the same thing as saying the war was going well, but that would have been silly, because everybody knows it isn't going well.

So what happened?

If Moderation Is Keynote

It would be surprising if the Republican committee on convention arrangements passed over U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Ohio's overwhelming choice to recapture a Senate seat for the Republican party this coming November.

He is an obvious choice for convention keynoter—the ideal spot on the program for one of the party's attractive young men who isn't ready for a place on the ticket but is part of the party's crop of future aspirants.

Rep. Taft would go before the convention with a significant vote of confidence to his credit—his lopsided victory in the Ohio Republican primary over Ted W. Brown, a popular state official, who gambled and lost on the proposition that his popularity would be enhanced if he ran under the banner of extreme conservatism.

THE BROWN PARLAY never left the ground in this key state.

Instead, it enhanced a thumping vote of cal moderation of young Bob Taft, who Ohio Republican confidence in the politics has made a fine start on a career in Congress.

He has avoided the ultra-conservative coloration that was an undesired handicap on his famous father. The elder Taft was too moderate for the taste of many of his ultraconservative friends, some of whom regarded him as a legislative wild man. When he supported public housing, they looked on him as little better than a pinko.

Thanks to the radical left, the elder

Does Castro Know Something?

If Premier Castro is acting like a dictator who has just learned his army has grown weary of him, there can be only one explanation.

The Cuban dictator must know something not known to people who keep him under observation. It is proper to speculate on what this mysterious something may be, because everything about Cuba has been speculative for years. It was speculated about in the 1960 presidential campaign. It will be speculated about in the 1964 campaign.

Fidel Castro must know something about Russian foreign policy in regard to Cuba not generally known. For example, he must know, first, what the United States has been claiming to know—that there has been a steady withdrawal of Russian troops and materiel.

He may know this withdrawal signifies a change in the Russian position on Cuba. It could be that it means Cuba's importance to Russia has been diminished by the split between Moscow and Peking and the urgent necessity of backing away from tension with the United States.

It could be that the Soviet Union has told the Castro regime it is on its own as far as coping with dissident Cubans is concerned—that its security against the United States is guaranteed by treaty with Russia but not against Cubans in a civil war, which is the way Castro came to

Instant Geography

As soon as people get over the shakes about nuclear energy, there will be changes made in the earth that will pop our eyes.

Russians have talked for years about changing things drastically in the region of the White Sea.

The United States has been cooling pandemonium in Panama by showing how nuclear explosions could dig a new ditch between the Atlantic and Pacific in less time than it would take to dig a new basement in a suburban allotment.

That would be only a sample of what could be done with nuclear explosions in the right places. New straits could be dug and old straits closed up. Strategic situations that have left their imprint on history for thousands of years could be dissolved in mushroom clouds.

Fact is there wouldn't even be clouds. The explosions would be set off deep in the earth.

A LAND BRIDGE could be thrown up between England and the Continent, saving France and Britain the cost and the complications of boring a tunnel under the English Channel.

A few additional explosions off the northern tip of Denmark would remove all danger of naval incursions from that direction. There are similar possibilities at Gibraltar, both for opening a wider passage and for closing the passage already there. The Suez Canal could be double-ditched, like Panama.

On the same day, Viet Cong troops pulled one of the bloodiest ambushes of the war, killing 51 South Viet Nam soldiers, wounding 30, including one American "adviser" and racking up another 10 troops missing and unaccounted for.

This demonstration was an unneeded reminder that every time someone talks about "escalating" the war in Viet Nam, the Chinese-backed Viet Cong shows it can "escalate" at will. It "escalated" the French 10 years ago at Dien Bien Phu, after the French had tried to step up the war first—and that was the end of French Indo-China.

Please, Secretary McNamara, if you must go back to that place again, wear a disguise. A couple more inspections and all will be lost.

Taft was built up into a symbol of ultra-conservatism. Like an actor typed by a role he is forced to play, "Mr. Republican" was made into a symbol of something he didn't really represent in his own thinking.

HIS SON'S lopsided victory over Secretary of State Brown in the Republican primary was a victory for political moderation over extremism.

If that's the kind of keynote the Republican committee on convention arrangements wants to hit, Robert Taft Jr. is a logical choice to hit it.

"Deer Crossing" signs throughout the district have a greater significance than to advertise the natural assets of our area.

Few motorists who read of deer being struck by autos on Route 7 and 170 in Ohio or Route 68 in Beaver County realize over 71,000 deer are killed annually in all 50 states—Pennsylvania provided the highest actual count in a survey: 12,153.

It has been estimated the average car-deer collision costs $200 in repairs. Multiplied by 71,000, this is a national loss of $14 million without figuring losses due to human injury and death.

Conservationists are working to cut down this hazard and tremendous cost in the natural resource value of the deer. But the best answer so far is public awareness of the danger involved and less pressure on the accelerator when in the vicinity of those "Deer Crossing" signs.

That would make any Cuban dictator nervous.

When the United States told Dictator Fulgencio Batista he was on his own, he became so nervous he turned Cuba over to Castro.

Speedy Summer

Just in case the patio furniture hasn't been scrubbed, all the window screens put in and charcoal ordered, this is a fine weekend to get ready for the season.

There are only a few weeks of school left, the area parks are getting ready to open, Midland is already looking forward to its "finest" July 4 fireworks display, and the vacation schedules are being arranged.

Summer's pleasures seem to pass so fast for many people, and the just-green trees will be turning color in four quick months.

In fact, the atmosphere of autumn is already drifting in. High school seniors are thinking about the freshman year in college, East Palestine has filed a school levy for the November election, and the politicians are plotting for the fall campaign.

If you don't get those dandelions dug out soon, the frost will kill 'em. . .

By Truman Twill

A continuous sea passage could be blasted through the Arctic. The scattered islands of Japan could be joined. The Caspian Sea and the Black Sea could be joined. England and Ireland could be joined, to the everlasting disgust of Irish men.

HUDSON BAY could be joined with Lake Superior. Reefs and marine hazards could be demolished with a poof. Inland seas and instant lakes could be created over weekends.

As the technique became refined, infinitesimal explosions could be designed to dig up gardens, even to blow dandelions out of lawns and get rid of unwanted shrubbery.

The ultimate military use of nuclear energy then would be realized. In event of war, nuclear explosions would alter the shape of the world itself, not kill people, which is the only idea the men in the white coats have had so far.

A recalcitrant nation would be warned to knuckle under or find its rivers diverted, its seaports blocked by barrier reefs, its lakes turned inside out and its lowlands inundated.

For the first time in the history of mankind, the power exists to change geography instantaneously. Instead of blasting away with Tom Thumb charges of TNT and scooping aside the rubble with power shovels a teaspoonful at a time.

Obsolete War Birds In Viet Nam

By David Hoffman

Every type of "front line" airplane furnished to Americans fighting in Viet Nam has, at one time or another, been craved into furnace-size chunks, melted and sold for scrap.

More than 20 other fixed-wing warplanes and 20 helicopters have been downed by Viet Cong machinegun and small-arms fire.

But the moral of American pilots, who must fly these craft in combat, has been seriously depressed by a series of accidents in which Viet Cong bullets played no role.

According to reports filtering back to the United States, the call throughout Viet Nam is for modern aircraft and more of them. As one returning pilot put it, "the stuff we fly here was thrown away long ago by stateside generals."

Until this spring, the mainstay combat aircraft in Viet Nam were the T-28 Trojan and the B-26 Invader.

to certain "rules of engagement." Their purpose: to prevent hostilities in the Indochinese peninsula from overflowing.

The "rules" forbid nuclear weapons, jet aircraft, guns larger than .50 caliber and sophisticated ground-to-air or air-to-ground rocket systems.

The Viet Cong, with few known exceptions, have abided by the rules. So has the U.S. But the temptation to introduce modern weapons to Viet Nam has been rising in response to recent Viet Cong victories on the field.

Right now, the United States is near the brink of legality.

More than 100 jet-powered helicopters have been sent over by the Pentagon and more are on the way. About 40 of these have been rigged with platforms for guns and rockets. A prop-jet reconnaissance plane widely used by the Army has been entered the theater. It, too, has been armed.

Additional T-28's are being refitted with prop-jet engines and soon may see duty in Viet Nam.

TO REPLACE the B-26's and the piston-driven T-28's, the Defense Department has delved into the Navy's stock of surplus Skyraiders—the last prop-powered attack plane used aboard Navy carriers—reportedly are being resurrected for use in Viet Nam. Though it has but one engine, the Skyraider can carry the bomb load of a World War II Flying Fortress.

But last month U.S. pilots in Viet Nam were complaining that Skyraiders still were not available. They wonder why, because the Air Force announcement that Skyraiders were en route to Viet Nam was issued nearly a year ago.

Complicating the life of U.S. fliers in Viet Nam is a high-level squabble between the Air Force and the Army over which service should supply "close air support." This is a classic, textbook function of tactical air power—the use of planes as artillery, to destroy targets just ahead of the foot soldier, to soften up strong points slated for attack.

THIS KIND of crossfire obscures the central fact of Vietnamese conflict: The war around Saigon will not necessarily set the pattern for future counterinsurgency actions so long as its scope is defined by the rules of engagement.

Viet Nam, for example, cannot answer vital military questions such as these:

1. How would the helicopter fare with enemy fighters operating in the skies above it? Americans and Vietnamese now have a monopoly on airpower in the theater; air superiority was gained by default.
2. What chance would T-28-type aircraft or helicopters stand against ground forces armed with even the most rudimentary ground-to-air rockets? Even now, much of the fighting in Viet Nam takes place at night, when guerrilla machinegun fire is least effective against attacking aircraft.
3. Can complicated, jet-powered helicopters be maintained in a front-line environment with fire or air strikes? In Viet Nam, these short-range helicopters are being repaired at well-equipped and secure airdromes minutes away from Viet Cong strong points.

Mississippi Change

By Raymond Moley

States Sees Economy Threat In Political Move

Two months ago in Jackson, Miss., I had the opportunity to meet with a group of the leading citizens of the state. There were present on that occasion utility executives, bankers and other business executives. There were also present Gov. Paul D. Johnson, former Governor Hugh White and the mayor of Jackson. Nearly all of those attending were Democrats. The discussion did not dwell upon politics or the race question but upon the advantages of Mississippi as a home for industry and its desire to attract more industry from the North.

There already is a remarkable change in the state because of new industry. There is no doubt at all about its advantages. One of the major sources of wealth which has come in during the last few years is the cattle raising business. Many cattle people have come to Mississippi from the Midwest because its climate is ideal for year-round cattle raising.

ON THE DAY following that meeting I was amazed to learn the leaders of the Democratic party in Mississippi planned to introduce legislation in May which would, in effect, throttle the efforts of the young Republican party to develop a real two-party system in the state.

Gov. Johnson was taking a leading part in this effort since, when he ran in 1963, a former Democratic official, Rubel Phillips, gave him a hard run at the polls as a Republican.

One provision of the proposed legislation would bar anyone from seeking office unless he had been a member of the new party for four years. Since the growth of a Republican party in a state like Mississippi must depend upon the party's getting its major candidates from among those who have been traditional Democrats, this would have denied such converts their essential rights.

Another provision of the legislation would have made it substantially impossible for Republicans to hold county or state conventions. The legislation proposed would have required county conventions to have representatives from a majority of the precincts in the county. Another requirement would have been that a state Republican convention have representatives from a majority of the state's counties.

SINCE THE NEW and growing Republican party in Mississippi is largely centered in the more important urban districts, these conditions would be impossible to meet.

Wirt Yerger, Jr., the young and aggressive Republican state chairman, fought hard to awaken the state and neighboring states to the danger of such anti-Republican legislation. His claim was that the Democrats were bent upon a policy that held "if you can't lick 'em, abolish 'em."

At the time I heard of this proposed legislation, I felt that it was quite incongruous for those in charge of Mississippi government to be trying to bring new industry to the state and at the same time attempting to lock the state by law in a one-party prison.

Since so many of the industries they were seeking to bring in were controlled by Republicans, this was a poor way to make them feel at home if they chose to move.

THE ANTI-REPUBLICAN bills passed the Senate and were headed for adoption. But it seems that recently the governor and other Democratic leaders have decided to change their plans and the offensive bills were pigeonholed in the lower house of the legislature. The reason given is that they have decided that this sort of thing is not good for business.

Apparently they not only saw the light, but felt the heat of rising sentiment against a course which would give the state a bad name over the country. There not only was realization of the unfavorable climate such legislation would create, but fear also that this sort of thing could not stand a test in the courts.

For clearly to deny an individual the right to change his party affiliation if he wishes to qualify as a candidate for office and also virtually prohibiting citizens to build a new party involves impermissible rights. For Republicans have rights even when they are a minority.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing concerning Mr. Thomas Lawrence's letter about Citizens Band radio and the recent distress call on the CB channel.

The CB'ers and the "hams" know that the distress call was heard by, and aid was given by, the CB'er. But on other occasions, the "ham" was given credit for aid given by CB'ers and the "hams" did not confirm or deny the stories.

Did the CB'er get on a soap box in defense of CB and shout that the local newspaper gave the credit to the "ham"? We did not. The "ham" knew he did not do it, and the CB'er knew he did. It was that simple. The CB'er is not a glory hunter, nor, do we believe are the "hams." We will concede that the pleasure craft sinking story was a hoax, but had it been the real thing, would he have written? We hardly think so.

We all know how relatively simple it is to obtain a Citizen Band Radio license in comparison to a "ham" ticket. But you do not need to be a genius or extra brainy. Lawrence is not the only CB'er who has gone to "ham." There are some "hams" still operating on CB. There are quite a few youngsters between 12 and 14 in "ham" and there are some of the so-called weaker sex in "ham."

CB, you say, was designed for the businessman. We say it was designed for the citizen. If the businessman uses CB in his business he will, according to Parts 95 governing CB, put up with all the interference, including 20 minutes of chatting (which is illegal, as you know), unlicensed walkie-talkies, diathermy and other CB'ers just as the rest of the CB'ers do. He can always change to business band radio.

As for confusing Citizen Band with "ham," if Mr. Average Citizen was interested in radio, communications he would know the difference, if he was not interested, he wouldn't care anyway.

There are bad apples in every barrel, even in the "ham" barrel, but one bad apple does not spoil the whole barrel.

This letter is in no way, meant to cast any reflections whatever, on the "ham" operator. It is simply an answer to Mr. Lawrence on behalf of CB and CB operators.

STATELY MANSIONS

Recognize this building? Whether you live in Yuma or Butte — or Concord or Dallas you know that this is the dome of the Capitol in Washington. And what is more, you would be able to identify the Eiffel Tower or the Taj Mahal without a second glance. All of us are attracted to and enticed by faraway places. And yet we tend to ignore and take for granted things and places of interest and beauty at our very "back door."

Our lives, too, have lofty domes and towers that we may be unaware of. We develop our physical bodies, our personalities, our talents, and we think we've done everything necessary for happy living. Yet it is a fact that unless the higher, spiritual life of man is developed also, lasting happiness is impossible. And when we live entirely on the materialistic level, we are only half alive.

'Once Upon A Time, There Was A Great, Big WOLF!'

Library's 'Story Hour' Thrills Area Children

By BYRON EELLS

Entranced by stories, songs, film strips and a puppet show, pre-school age children — and their mothers! — already are looking forward to another "Story Hour" next fall at Carnegie Library.

The final spring session was held Wednesday when the children listened attentively as Mrs. Hilda McEwen, assistant librarian, related the classic tale of "The Ugly Duckling" and joined happily in the songs led by Mrs. Ann Triguba.

Now in its eighth year, the format of the story hour, whose purpose is to introduce children to the library, has been expanded and changed from its original concept.

SIX-WEEK SESSIONS NOW are held each spring and fall with two "story hours" one day a week. Enrollment is limited to 35-40 children between 4 and 6 years old at each morning and afternoon sessions with registration required.

Although some children have attended for three years, each year some youngsters have to be turned down because of the limited number that can be accommodated, Mrs. McEwen explained. Because of the limited time of the library staff, it has been difficult to hold more than one day a week.

When the program first was launched, the age limit was 3-6 and as many as 50 youngsters attended.

But it was hard to hold the interest of the three-year-olds, and the large number in attendance was difficult to handle because of space limitations, so the age limit was reduced a year.

WITH INCREASING interest in the program, it became necessary to add one session each day to help accommodate the number who wanted to attend.

One of the most difficult problems, Mrs. McEwen said, is selection of stories, songs and film strips that will hold the children's interest.

For the first time this year, a puppet show was held for the youngsters. Entitled "Willie and the Wolf" or "Deep in the Forest," it included Mrs. McEwen, Mrs. Triguba, Mary Anne Jordan and Trudy Allison. Mrs. Margaret Guyton helped make the puppets.

The interest it held for the youngsters can be seen on this page.

City Girl Adds Curve To Engineer Angle

The Law

Who's Who In World Of Students

By CHARLES R. CRONIN

Virginia G. Arbuthnot's good looks and trim figure suggest her occupation to be perhaps a clerk or receptionist.

Actually, the East Liverpool resident is the only female civil engineer in Ohio and a full-fledged employee of one of the world's largest civil engineering firms.

A chance remark by a high school teacher launched her on the road to an unusual career, and eventually a well-paying job in the highway design department of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., at Rochester.

A whiz in mathematics in high school, Virginia gave some serious thought to a suggestion of Royd Hodge, former ELHS teacher, that she consider engineering as a career.

GRADUATING IN 1958, she was encouraged by her parents and math instructor, Nate Lorah, to study civil engineering. Virginia enrolled at Youngstown University, undaunted by a few skeptical friends who felt that a woman had no place behind a transit.

Although the only woman in her classes at YU, Virginia showed so much determination and interest that the fellows helped her when needed, and she "became one of the boys."

Last year, the 23-year-old Calcutta lass worked for Charles Snyder, Columbiana County engineer, spending two weeks with survey crews on highway projects.

Passing motorists, noting a woman running a transit or a rod, would stare in amazement.

Since leaving ELHS, Virginia has completed six of the required eight years of study to be a registered surveyor. She has also passed the surveyor's state board examinations.

Officially, she's a SIT, or surveyor in training, working full-time at the Rochester concern and studying at Youngstown in the evening.

"THEY TREAT me very, very nice," Virginia says of the males at Michael Baker in Rochester where she is the only woman on a 60-member staff in the drafting room.

"It's not easy to get accepted at first; you can get discouraged," Miss Arbuthnot declares. But she likes her job with Michael Baker and the fellows she works with.

There are a few other women in the engineering field, Virginia points out, primarily in electrical and chemical engineering. But she's the only female civil engineer in Ohio.

Presently, she works in highway design at her own desk, equipped with scales, protractors, compass and red pencil.

In the field, Virginia dons slacks and goes hatless. She loves the outdoors, and at home spends a lot of time with Lance, her pet horse. She also enjoys knitting, reading and Civil War history.

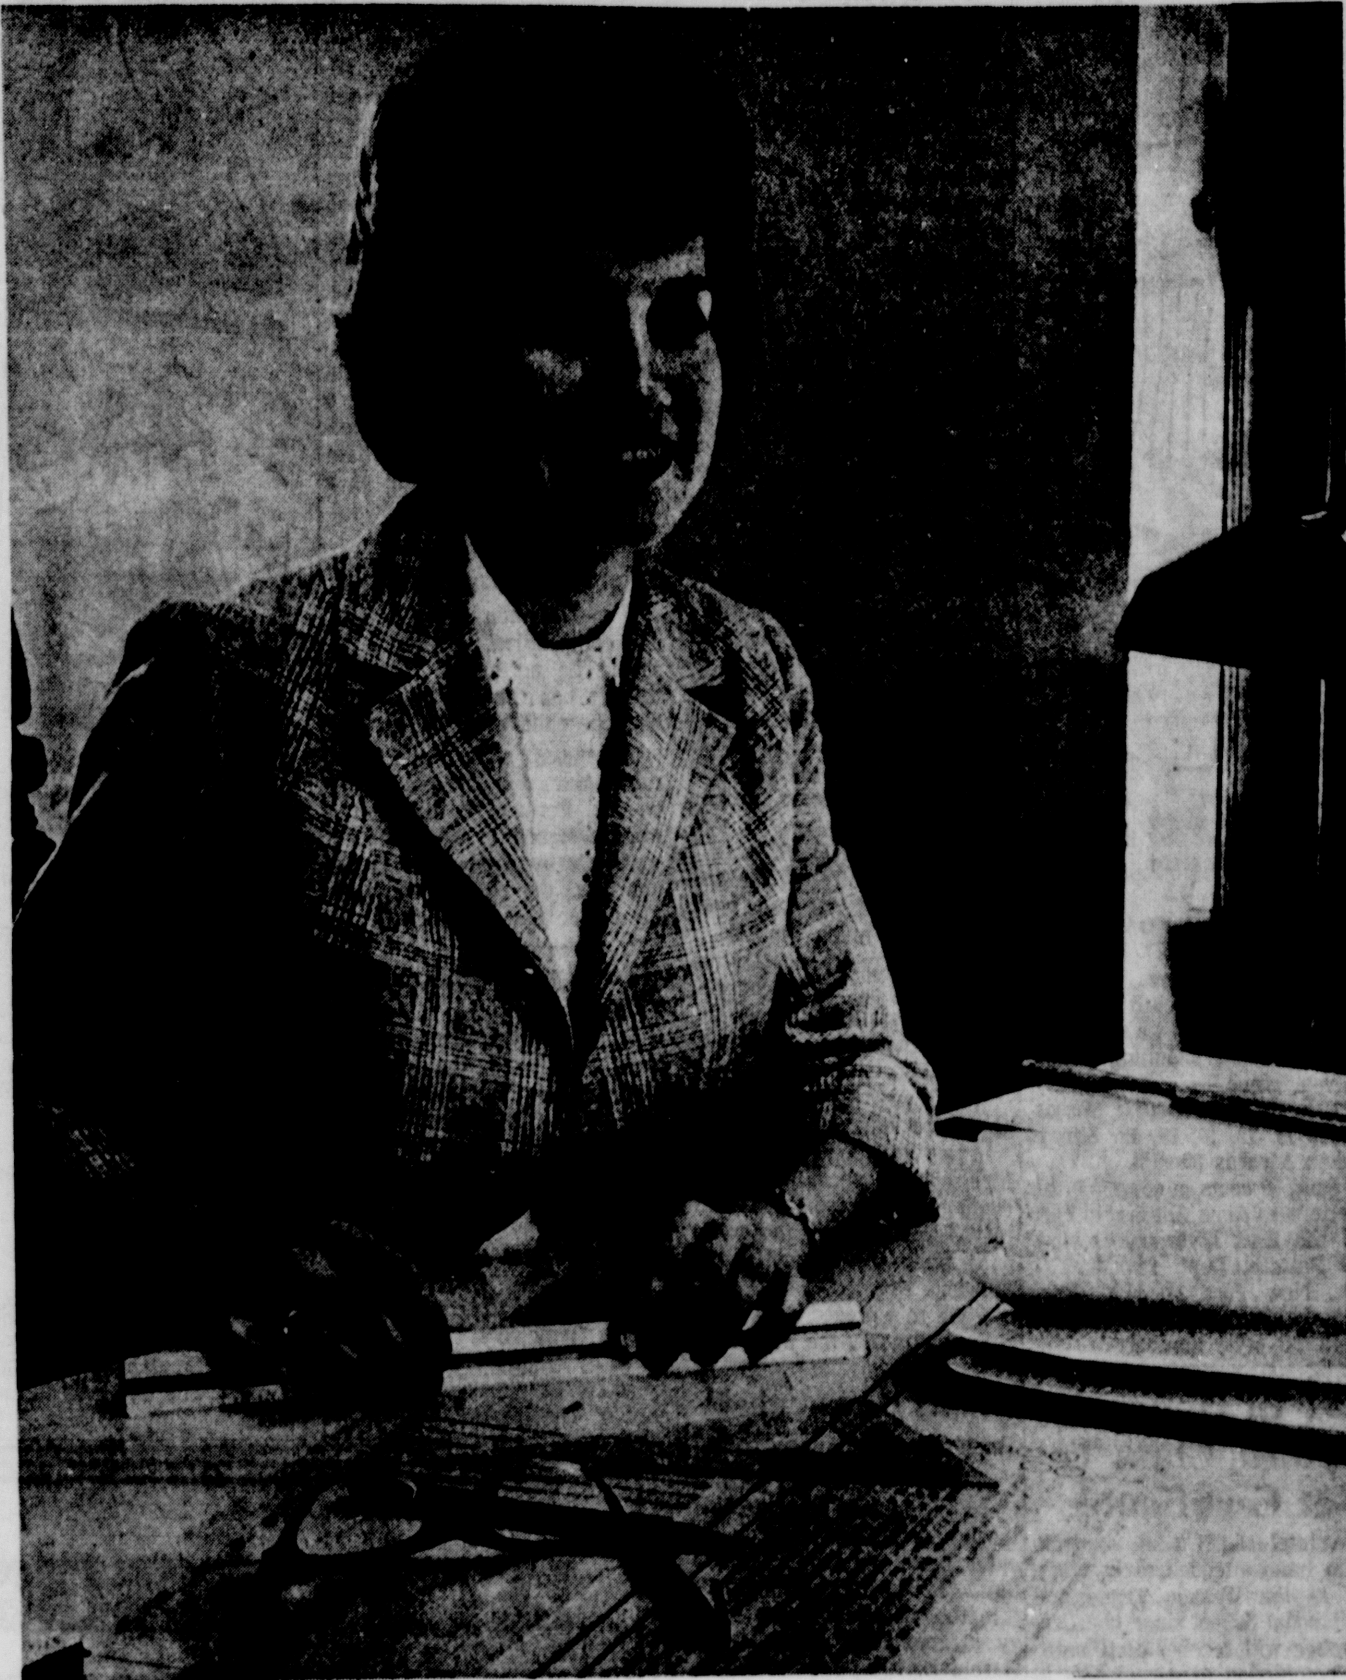

Adding incentive to the long hours of study and training to earn the title of surveyor or a graduate engineer is the handsome salary. Already, Virginia makes more than twice as much as a female clerical worker, and the pay gets better as the experience piles up.

"I SPEND A lot on clothes and shoes," Virginia says. She's content at the present to remain at Michael Baker in the highway design department.

But later, she would like to get into bridge design. Could she give the woman's touch to a new bridge? "Only if I had it painted pink," she laughs.

Dark-haired, attractive Virginia is not counting out wedding bells in her future. "I'm looking forward to marriage and a family, but I still want to make a career of my profession; I couldn't stay away from it the rest of my life," she exclaimed.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Arbuthnot of Birch Rd. in the Calcutta area.

It's Unconstitutional Sometimes laws enacted by the U. S. Congress or by state legislatures are declared "unconstitutional" by the courts.

When a law is declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of a state in the case of state laws, or the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of either federal or state laws, the law is, in effect, nullified or removed from the body of the law.

To understand why some laws are stricken down as unconstitutional, or in other words, in violation of the Constitution, it must be realized that the Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land and the Constitution of a state is the fundamental law for that state.

The Constitution represents the will of the people, from whom all power springs in our form of government. Only the people have the right to change the Constitution.

Sometimes the members of Congress or of a legislature enact a law which provides for some procedure prohibited by the Constitution. In that case, if the validity of the law is challenged, it is the duty of the court to declare that the law is unconstitutional.

When a law is held void it is not because the courts have or exercise any control over the legislative power, but because the will of the people as expressed in the Constitution is superior to that of their elected representatives expressed in a law. It is the duty of the judges under their oaths of office to give effect to the will of the people as expressed in the Constitution.

If new laws could ignore fundamental concepts on which our government is founded, a majority of Congress or of a state legislature could radically change our form of government simply by passing new laws which do away with constitutional rights, such as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, or freedom of religion.

Ending an East Liverpool High School career that has kept her busy with studies and student activities, Marlene Laughlin also has her future mapped out.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Laughlin, 306 W. 6th St., she has been accepted at Ohio Wesleyan University and plans to major in secondary education.

But she's thinking beyond college, hoping to serve with the Peace Corps some day.

Marlene has been a member of Student Council for three years, serving this year as treasurer. She's also found time to be business manager of the Keramos year-book.

She's also been a member of the National Honor Society for two years a member of Hi-Tri and Future Teachers of America, and in the Senior Class play cast.

As a junior she was vice president of Forum. She's also a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

City Medals Sold For Scrap

Thousands Were 'Awarded' To Municipal Employee

By ROBERT POPP

Almost everyone has been awarded a medal sometime or other in his life.

Governments hand them out for everything from fighting to fecundity. Sunday Schools pass them out for attendance, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and 4-H Clubs use them as awards.

Dictators like Khrushchev and Castro wear them by the dozens. Ambassadors receive them from foreign governments for crooking the pinkie properly at tea.

Common as they are, with 14 million or more war veterans in the United States, East Liverpool has a man unique in the annals of medals.

He's the only man ever awarded medals by the thousands—literally in a packing case lot.

And thereby hangs a curious tale of improvisation, happenstance even serendipity, if you please!

ROLL BACK THE pages of time to 1941-45, when almost everyone in East Liverpool between 18 and 40 was in the armed forces or in a defense plant job.

The stay-at-homes, lush with cash they couldn't spend and anxious to provide the biggest welcome home every seen, began planning months, even years, in advance.

They put together a big pot of money to finance the gala event. Plans were vague, but everyone agreed that the bigger the kitty, the bigger the celebration would be.

As things rolled along, the pot kept growing. Finally, in 1945, the war ended and it was time to put together that long-awaited celebration.

The East Liverpool Victory Committee, which had collected all the money, decided to take a year to work out a week-long celebration, and set it for August 1946.

Former Police Chief Hugh J. McDermott was chairman of the committee and the moving force behind the fundraising. He and his committee put together a celebration that included parades, patriotic exhibits, dances — the works.

Money was no real object. The committee had plenty.

The spectacular of spectacles in the celebration was an Ohio River regatta that ran several days. Huge trophies were purchased for prizes.

When the celebration was all worked out, the committee still had a problem — what to do with the money that was left over? After all, the community had donated it to welcome home the heroes of World War II.

MANY IDEAS were offered and discarded. Finally, the committee decided to award a medal to every man and woman in East Liverpool who had served honorably during the war.

A quick check with the Draft Board showed 7,500 to 8,000 had gone to war from the city and the immediate area.

So the committee ordered the medal in wholesale quantities — enough for every veteran, with a few left over as spares.

After weeks of waiting, the medals arrived at City Hall in a huge wooden packing case. They were boxed individually and wrapped in tissue paper — truly handsome medals.

On the front appeared a reproduction of the famous scene on Iwo Jima when four Marines raised the colors on Mt. Suribachi. Around the edge in bold letters were the words: "For Patriotic Service—1941-1945."

On the back appeared the Great Seal of the United States and the legend: "East Liverpool Victory Celebration, Aug. 12, 1946." A traditional strand of red, white and blue ribbon was attached to the top.

The day the medals arrived, the committee put out the announcement that they were available to any veteran who showed his discharge papers.

THEN IT SAT back and waited for the rush. A few dozen showed up the first day and a few more claimed the medals each day that followed.

But there was no real rush. After a few days, the requests for the medals dwindled to almost nothing.

Despite repeated reminders about the awards, the committee found itself literally stuck with the hefty little medal pieces, about the same diameter and thickness as a half-dollar, ostensibly made of bronze.

The big wooden box sat in a corner in the chief's office for several months, gathering dust. Once in a while, a fellow would wander in to pick up a medal, but business was far from brisk.

Finally, the packing case of medals went the way of all unwanted items in City Hall. It was shifted to a high-ceilinged room in the basement used as the headquarters of R. D. (Del) Perrin, chief custodian.

Administrations came and went over the years. None was asked to wrestle with the problem of the surplus medals.

Finally, in 1954, Perrin went to E. Allan McKeever, then in the mayor's office, and asked permission to dispose of the unwanted medals quietly. McKeever gave his approval. The idea struck Perrin that the metal might be sold as junk.

HE CAME UP with an idea. The water department's meter repair office had moved to a new building at the Thompson Ave. reservoir. Harry Waggle, the repairman, took along all his tools when he moved.

borrow screw drivers, saws and many other little hand tools for his maintenance work. He had depended upon the water department as a "good neighbor" to loan him anything he needed.

Perrin particularly needed a hand saw and a few other tools. He went into negotiations with scrap dealers to find the market price for second, unused medals.

Sure, the scrap dealers said, they would buy the medals. But only if they were taken out of the boxes, unwrapped from their tissue paper swathing and devoid of the strips of red, white and blue cloth!

At a quick estimate, Perrin decided there was about 5,000 medals to be unboxed, unwrapped and un-ribboned. But he went to work.

He recalls it required two or three days of constant work just to snip off the red, white and blue cloth strips. Finally, they were all ready to go.

Then he remembered. They had to be weighed, too. So Perrin and Robert Kelly, parking meter repairman, scooped the medals up and loaded them into water buckets.

THE NEAREST scales were two flights up — in the Health Department's office, where they were used to check the weight of clinic patients.

Kelly and Perrin toted the two bucketsful of medals up the stairs, weighed them and then carried them down the two flights.

Total weight? An even 103 pounds.

Perrin turned them over to a scrap dealer, dreaming of enough riches to replenish his City Hall tool chest.

But it was no bonanza. He got a total of $13 for all the effort and the two bucketsful of medals.

But with some judicious shopping and the discount normally allowed on City Hall purchases, he was able to buy a treasured hand saw, plus an assortment of other tools.

And that's the story of what happened to those unwanted World War II medals and the man who had "honors" conferred upon him by the thousands!

Delivery Dilemma

Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow nor dark of night can stay delivery of mail in most cases, but an improper mail box can, area postmasters have announced on the eve of "Rural Mail Box Improvement Week."

Postmaster Robert Edwards of Chester and others have pointed out boxes and supports should be kept painted and free from rust, with the name of the owner shown on the side, visible to the carrier as he approaches or on the door where boxes are grouped.

The boxes should also be securely fixed at the proper height and distance from the roadway for convenience and safety of delivery.

The boxes above were photographed Friday to exemplify some of the styles which will bring on a notice from the postal department if not improved.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Brief Homework Would Be Boon To All

Some parents have written to complain that their children must do considerable homework in arithmetic, composition, etc., which they think the teacher never checks, evaluates or corrects. Children, discovering this to be so, often feel the futility of doing such work and Dr. Garry Myers hardly will strive to do it well. It's my guess that, on the average, not half the written homework is carefully evaluated by the teacher.

All she may do is to check to see that a certain amount of written work is handed in; she may assume that by having the child do written work at home, he will be practicing in certain skills, that he needs the drill; also that he needs to be busy.

IF THE TEACHER were to examine carefully all the written work she assigns, she would hardly have much time left to teach by day or do anything else at night. Some conscientious teachers drudge over such work for hours and hours night after night.

What can the teacher do about the matter? In a few junior and senior high schools, special persons, including housewives, are employed by the school to "grade" paperwork—themes and compositions.

While this procedure has considerable merit, the mere grading of the papers without ample notes or conferences, between the grading person and the student, may not prove very effective. Besides, such outside help may not apply well to what has been taught in the school.

I think the English teacher in the upper grades and secondary school should, as a rule, require only short written assignments which can be evaluated at school, with each student. The careful writing of a paragraph may result in a better grasp of the subject than the writing of the theme of a thousand or more words.

CERTAINLY IN the grades, the emphasis should be on brevity rather than great length; the composition, as a rule, should be no longer than the teacher has time to go over it with the child at school.

In general, a maximum limit rather than a minimum, should be set. Perhaps if the written work assigned in any grade were cut by one-half or three-quarters, the results would be far better than at present.

It, moreover, would be a beneficial step for teachers as well as pupils.

As for drill exercises, typically in arithmetic, the false assumption is that more repetition will guarantee improvement in skill. As anybody knows, it won't. Repetition tends to fix errors as well as correct responses. Only errorless repetition can best promote skills.

Historic Ruling 10 Years Ago

More Of Supreme Court Decisions Due On Rights

Ten years ago Sunday, the Supreme Court made the historic civil rights ruling that separate educational facilities are inherently unequal. Following is a synopsis of the history the court has been making in that difficult field since—and a look ahead to some expected landmark decisions.

By PAUL M. YOST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after its historic decision against racial segregation in public schools, the Supreme Court is due to follow up with more landmark rulings in the difficult civil rights field.

Any Monday before term-closing day in June, the high tribunal may decide the fate of several thousand Negroes and whites arrested for sit-in demonstrations at Southern lunch counters and other private business places.

The troublesome issue that confronts the nine justices is validity, under the Constitution, of the use of state criminal trespass laws to enforce private discrimination.

Equally difficult is a pending case from Prince Edward County in Virginia, where schools were closed in 1959 to avoid court-ordered admission of Negroes to classes.

The justices have been asked to order the county to levy taxes for desegregated schools, and to declare unconstitutional the closing of county schools while public schools elsewhere in Virginia remain open.

The Prince Edward case was one of the original school segregation cases decided by the Supreme Court on May 17, 1954, and some court observers have predicted that the case may be acted on finally next Monday—10 years and a day after the first momentous ruling.

Chief Justice Earl Warren a decade ago pronounced the fateful words that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal." He declared for a unanimous court that Negroes cannot legally be barred from public schools because of race.

Numerous lawsuits followed in lower federal courts as Negro parents and Negro organizations pressed for compliance with the decree. The Supreme Court mostly let the lower courts struggle with the cases until recently. Then it heard arguments in the Prince Edward case and in another appeal involving Atlanta.

The latter case, also up for decision in May or June, questions the validity of Atlanta's gradual desegregation plan that started from the top down, beginning with the 11th and 12th grades.

While school cases worked their way through the lower courts, the high tribunal in the last decade took on and decided numerous disputes in the civil rights field that appeared to be sparked by the 1954 segregation ruling. Time and again final decisions in that field hinged on a basic holding that any activity having a government connection must be open to Negroes and whites without discrimination.

For instance, just a year ago the court called for immediate desegregation of parks, playgrounds and other city recreation facilities in Memphis. The city had pleaded in vain for use of a program of gradual desegregation. Earlier, Atlanta was told to allow Negroes to use its public golf course and Baltimore was directed to allow both races to use public parks and pools.

In a case from Wilmington, Del., the court ordered Negroes admitted to a privately operated restaurant in a state-owned building devoted largely to car parking. Authority of Colorado's antidiscrimination commission to order job-tests for a Negro pilot was upheld and Richmond, Va., was told it could not require Negroes to sit in a special section in its traffic court.

A major victory for campaigners against racial discrimination was a Warren opinion of last May. He declared then that state laws, city ordinances and statements by their officials are totally ineffective to bar Negroes from peaceful sit-in demonstrations in public business places.

Apparently out of patience over arrests of Negroes under local laws affecting transportation, the high court had this to say:

"We have settled beyond question that no state may require racial segregation of interstate or intrastate transportation facilities. The question is no longer open; it is foreclosed as a litigable issue."

Patrol To Issue Information Cards In Tracing Travelers

Travelers Location Information Cards, designed to advise neighbors or relatives where a traveler may be contacted in event of an emergency, are available from the Ohio Highway Patrol Post at Lisbon.

Sgt. R. J. Rizzo said the patrol is continuing the program to aid motorists planning an extended trip or taking a vacation.

Each year, Highway Patrol Posts receive numerous requests for assistance in locating people who are away on trips and who should be advised of a serious illness or other emergency at home. Locating these persons is greatly simplified and expedited if sufficient information is available.

These cards can be obtained at any patrol post, Sgt. Rizzo said. They include space for a complete description of the automobile and other data that would be needed to locate the traveler immediately if it should become necessary.

The patrol stands ready to help in locating persons away from home, during emergencies, if all other means of communication have failed. He urged every motorist planning an extended trip to pick up a card at a patrol post, complete it and leave it with the neighbor or relative who would most likely want to get in touch with him, if an emergency should arise.

The yellow cards have lines for the name, address, description of the car — including make, model, color and license —time of departure and return, route of travel, address of stops date of arrival at destination and address of destination and other information.

Sgt. Rizzo said any motorist may obtain the cards at the post or simply write down the required data on a piece of paper and leave it with a neighbor or relative.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ON HOUSE HEATING

! Electric heating costs over 2½ times as much as GAS!

Advertisements on electric home heating would have you believe that electric resistance heating is inexpensive.

The fact is that electricity costs over two and a half times as much as Gas to heat an identical home. A recent study of a typical house in this area indicated the annual heating cost with Gas to be about $119.* To heat the identical house by the electric resistance method would cost about $310 a year.

In addition to the economy of heating with Gas, you get these other advantages with Gas.

- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS MORE COMFORTABLE — Gas Heat provides free circulation of air to keep all parts of your home comfortable.
- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS MORE HEALTHFUL — At reasonable cost, Gas Heat can put more heated, healthful, fresh air in your home for your family. But that is not all. To keep electric heating costs from going even higher, homes must be made so "tight" they are virtually "fresh air proof." The result . . . stale, dead air and stuffy rooms.
- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS ALWAYS WARM IN WINTER — Gas Heat is always dependable. It seldom fails you during wind storms, hail, sleet storms, or heavy snow.
- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS CLEAN — Filtered Gas Heat helps eliminate stale air in your home. There is less deposit of cooking vapors on walls, windows, drapes, and furnishings.
- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS SAFE — Modern Gas Furnaces are fully equipped with safety controls approved by safety engineers.
- ⚡ YOUR HOME IS BETTER EQUIPPED FOR FUTURE AIR CONDITIONING — With forced air Gas Heat, you already have duct work that converts easily for air conditioning.

*This comparison is based on a typical home using 140,000 cubic feet of Gas annually for heating.

BE MODERN, BE THRIFTY, BE WISE. ALWAYS INSIST ON GAS HEAT FOR YOUR HOME.

Mets Clip Giants, 4-2; Dodgers Blank Pirates, 6-0

Allen's Hit Brings Twins 1-0 Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
When the winningest pitcher in Baltimore's 10-year American League tenure tosses a shut-out before the home fans, collects two hits in three trips to the plate and still gets upstaged by a veteran of four major league appearances, he has to be bucking a hot attraction.
Milt Pappas found out what it's like to follow fuzzy-cheeked Wally Bunker's act Friday night when the two right-handers pitched the Orioles to a double-header sweep over Los Angeles.
Pappas blanked the Angels on eight hits and plunked a single and run-scoring double in Baltimore's 12-0 nightcap victory. But he played second banana to Bunker's 6-1 four-hit masterpiece—third straight complete-game victory for the 19-year-old bonus bird—in the opener.
The second-game decision was Pappas' 83rd as an Oriole and evened his 1964 record at 2-2. He was the same age as Bunker is now and a member of Baltimore's original Kiddie Korps when he won his first game.
Pappas arrived in a hurry eight years ago; Bunker came on like the untouchables — on hitting Washington in his season debut.
The $70,000 bonus sensation, less than a year removed from high school, has allowed two earned runs and 14 hits in 27 innings.

Pappas' shutout was one of four in AL activity. Chicago's John Buzhardt blanked Washington 2-0 on three hits. Minnesota's Camilo Pascual edged Boston's Bill Monbouquette 1-0 on a six-hitter and Kansas City's Diego Segui scattered nine hits and tamed New York 11-0.

Cleveland ripped Detroit 10-6 in the only game not marked by fine pitching.
Home runs by Luis Aparicio and John Orsino and Bob Johnson's two-run triple backed Bunker in the Orioles-Angels opener. Norm Siebern chipped in with three hits. The Angels scored their run on Jim Fregosi's triple and an infield out.

Pappas struggled for his shutout, stranding 10 LA base runners, but the outcome was decided when the Orioles scored six unearned runs in the fourth. Jackie Brandt hit a three-run homer in the eighth.

Buzhardt retired the last 18 batters he faced and won his third of five decisions. He struck out nine and walked one. The White Sox scored a tainted run in the third inning and Dave Nicholson singled home the other run in the sixth.

The Twins, held to three singles by Monbouquette through seven innings, won in the eighth on Frank Malzone's error, a sacrifice and Bernie Allen's double. Minnesota's Tony Oliva raised his league-leading batting average to .425 with two singles and a double.

Rocky Colavito touched Yankee starter Ralph Terry for a second-inning homer—his 10th of the year—and singled home one of five Kansas City runs in the sixth, but had to leave the game when he was hit in the ankle by a line drive off the bat of teammate Dick Green. The A's completed the rout with five runs in the eighth.

The Indians scored three runs in the seventh, two on rookie Bob Chance's pinch hit homer, added a pair in the eighth on Larry Brown's double and pulled out of reach on ninth-inning homers by Jerry Kindall and Woodie Held. Norm Cash and Jerry Lumpe connected for Detroit.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won successive National League pennants in 1952 and 1953 and again in 1955 and 1956.

Ohio's Basketball Tournaments Almost $1 Million Business

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school basketball tournaments, which pay the way for all other scholastic sports except football, were almost a million-dollar business this year.
The annual cage carnival, from county eliminations through the state classic in which Dayton Belmont and Dresden Jefferson capped the crowns, drew a record 1,061,256 fans who paid $909,519 at the gate.
Both figures are records, along with the $205,404 which the Ohio High School Athletic Association retained as its share.
A year ago the tournament trail drew receipts of $840,259 from 975,795 fans, and the state association retained $188,345.
Deficits for state and regional tournaments in other sports, paid by the state association from basketball receipts in 1963, were: Baseball $10,475, track $18,966, golf $3,067, tennis $2,050, cross-country $3,827, swimming $4,394, and wrestling $3,285 for a total of $46,068.
In addition, the basketball receipts pay the salaries of Commissioner Paul E. Landis, his assistant, Harold A. Meyer, and the office staff, plus all other activities connected with the scholastic sports scene.
As Landis puts it: "Basketball finances the whole show."
County tournament attendance dropped from 202,179 in 1963 to 182,226 this year, but the sectional-districts jumped from 634,748 to 719,798, the regionals from $5,354 to $9,942, and the state meet from $3,514 to $5,290.
Thirteen counties did not hold elimination tournaments, and all such competition will be abandoned next season, all teams going straight to sectional-district play.
The Preble County tourney, held at Richmond, Ind., drew 11,962 fans to lead the list, but the Ross County meet at Frankfort was a close second with 9,127.
The Columbus Sectional-District at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum led that round of meets with 56,965 fans for the Class AA games.
Cincinnati led the Class AA regionals with 18,444 fans. Columbus paced Class A with 9,211.

Phils, Cards, Redlegs Chalk Up Victories

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I hope Snider gets to play and I get to pitch. I'll show him what kind of an easy club we are."
Tracy Stallard, 26-year-old right-hander of the New York Mets, got his wish—he pitched to Snider.
But San Francisco's 37-year-old veteran lined a pinch single and knocked in the Giants' first run in the fifth inning Friday night.
The Mets, however, still showed Snider and the Giants what kind of team they are by winning their third straight game, 4-2.
Stallard uttered his wish a month ago after the Mets sold Snider to the Giants. Upon departing, Snider remarked that the Mets were a terrible club and that he couldn't get inspired to play his best with a poor team.
Stallard quickly and bitterly came to his team's defense, asserting Snider "loafed all the time" while with the Mets and "tried to live on his reputation."
The Mets were leading 2-0 and Stallard was pitching a two-hitter when Snider batted for Bob Bolin Friday night. Jim Davenport had tripled and Jose Pagan had walked. Snider hit Stallard's first pitch into right field, sending Davenport home.
The Giants didn't get any more hits off Stallard, but the angry young Met had to leave the game after six innings because his arm stiffened in the chilly weather.
Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles drubbed Pittsburgh 6-0, Philadelphia blanked Houston 4-0, St. Louis whipped Milwaukee 10-6 and Cincinnati belted Chicago 10-5.
The Giants tied the game in the fifth as Pagan scored on an infield out, but the Mets won it in the eighth with two runs. Joe Christopher walked, and Jim Hickman singled to left. They advanced on a sacrifice, then scored on Charlie Smith's double to left-center field.
Hickman, clouted a two-run homer in the second for the Mets' first two runs.
The Dodgers won their third straight game behind Phil Ortega's five-hit pitching and Willie Davis' hitting. Ortega, hurling his second major league shutout and his second triumph, struck out eight and walked four.
Davis drove in three runs, one in the Dodgers' four-run fourth when the Pirates committed three errors.
Dennis Bennett stopped the Colts on five hits as he picked up his fourth victory in six decisions. The 24-year-old left-hander struck out six and walked only one. He also singled home the Phillies' first run in the second inning. They added three runs in the seventh, two on Richie Allen's single.
Julian Javier's grand slam home run in the first touched off a home-run spree for St. Louis. Jeff Long connected with a man aboard in the seventh before Charley James hit his second bases-empty blow of the game. Lee Maye belted a two-run homer for the Braves.
Cincinnati spoiled Larry Jackson's bid for his fifth straight victory, erupting for six runs in the third. The Reds banged out four singles and two doubles in the inning. Frank Robinson homered with one aboard in the second for the Reds while Billy Williams and Andre Rodgers homered for the Cubs.

Midland Nine Beaten, 8-3

Center Township enjoyed two big innings early and went on to whip Midland, 8-3, with a nine-hit attack Friday at the winners' field near Monaca.
Larry Savage went all the way for Center Township, limiting Midland to six hits. Ronnie Brown, who worked one inning, was the loser. Midland's record fell to 3-8.
Infielder Jimmy Miller collected a single and triple for Midland, while Sam Zigerelli had two singles.

Trainers 'Leaving It Up To Them' Jockeys Get 'Free Hand' In 88th Preakness Today

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP)—One thing about being a reporter—you get to ask those in the know just what is going to happen in today's Preakness. It's very revealing.
Like asking trainers of the horses in the 88th running of the $150,000-added event if their 3-year-old would take the early lead should none of the others do it. Their helpful replies:
Trainer Horatio Luro of Northern Dancer: "I'm leaving it up to jockey Bill Hartack."
Trainer Elliot Burch of Quadrangle: "I'm leaving it up to jockey Braulio Baeza."
Trainer Bill Finnegan of Hill Rise: "Naturally, I'll have to leave it up to jockey Bill Shoemaker."
Trainer Burley Parke of Roman Brother: "I think jockey Wayne Chambers is very capable of doing the same."
Trainer Mesh Tenney of The Scoundrel: "I hope jockey Hank Moreno has good judgement."
Trainer Bernie Bond of the other Preakness entry, Big Pete, wasn't at Pimlico's Alibi Breakfast where the reporters gathered Friday to get their inside dope. A lot of us thought we learned something, though. For example, a horse is in better shape if he gains weight.
"Northern Dancer weighs more now than before winning the Kentucky Derby," explained Luro. "It is a reflection of his condition because he has been on the same diet. That is the way I judge it."
The weather forecast for today's Preakness is fair, but there isn't a sports writer around who wouldn't ask about effects of a wet track. Everybody knows that some horses are better mudders than others. Which trainer would prefer a slow track?
Luro: "I always like a fast track because the result is true."
Finnegan: "I'd much rather have it fast."
Burch: "For the good of all concerned, I'd like it fast."
Remember all this useful information while watching the Preakness on CBS television 4:30-5 p.m. EST.

Ward's 3 Firsts Spark Clippers To Track Title

SALEM — Marked by a brilliant performance by slender Jim Ward, Columbiana High swept the Northeastern Ohio Class AA District track and field meet Friday at Reilly Stadium. Ward set one record, tied another, and missed a third by a fraction of a second.
Columbiana compiled 39 points to sweep the title from defending champion Youngstown South, with 33 points. Following were Youngstown Rayen, 30, Warren, 17, and Salem 11. Beaver Local was far down the list with three points.
A crowd of about 4,000 saw Columbiana, trailing South by 32-29 going into the 13th event, gain the victory when Ward and teammate Rick Perrin finished one-two in the 220-yard dash.
Ward's time in the 220 was 21.8, erasing the old record of 21.9 set in 1960 by Marvin Howard of Warren. The Columbiana flash tied the meet record of 9.8 in the 100-yard dash, and ran the 440 in 49.2, two-tenths of a second off the record.
Ward received the "outstanding athlete" trophy, in winning three events for 18 points.
Bill Lenkaitis of South erased his own record in the discus with a heave of 176 feet, 1 1/4 inches. He also won the shot put at 56 feet, 6 inches. Pete Richardson of South was also a double winner in the high hurdles, 14.9, and the lows, 20.2. Fred Gosney of Columbiana was second in each hurdle event.
Oscar Brown of Rayen won the mile in 4:32.8, and the 880 in 2:02.1. Bill Fullerton of East Palestine was third in the 880, with Gene Metzgar of United Local fifth.
Fred Gosney of Columbiana and Ken Votaw of United finished in a four-way tie for third place in the high jump. Salem's mile relay team won in 3:31.1. The first four places qualified for the state track meet in Columbus. Beaver Local's Warren Bradley qualified by finishing third in the high hurdles.

He's Put On Waivers

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) - Pete Runnels said Friday night he was glad he had been placed on waivers by the Houston Colts because he didn't want to sit on the bench.

The two-time American League batting champion was placed on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

Runnels had a good spring training and was in the line-up the first two weeks of the season. He slumped to .230 at bat, however, and was benched.

Qualifying Tests Start For Indianapolis '500'

By DALE BURGESS

Associated Press Sports Writer INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Twenty-eight glittering cars were lined up today for assaults on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway qualifying records in eliminations for the 48th 500-mile race May 30.

With temperatures expected to be in the low 80s and no rain in sight, the question was not whether records would be set but how high they would go.

The trial record, set last year by race winner Parnelli Jones, 151 miles an hour, had been broken by at least 18 cars in practice.

Jones himself had done 157.6 in the same front-engine Offenhauser but was tied for only second-best practice speed. He had been matched late Friday by Jimmy Clark of Scotland, defending world road racing champion, in a rear-engine Lotus-Ford.

The man to beat, in another Lotus-Ford, was Bobby Marshall of Pottstown, Pa., who had a 158.7 lap Friday.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., former 500 winner and defending U.S. Auto Club big car champion, got up to 157.6 Friday in a conventional front-engine Offenhauser.

Clark chased Jones across the finish line last year.

The fastest car in today's trials will hold the pole position the inside spot on the three-car front row, in spite of later speeds. All cars qualified today will hold their positions, with those qualifying Sunday and the following weekend falling in behind.

A qualified car can be eliminated, however, if it is not one of the 33 fastest. If it is bumped from the field, the cars below it each move up one place.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean a greasy concrete floor?

A. Scatter trisodium phosphate thickly on the floor, then sprinkle on just enough water to dissolve the chemical. Wait an hour or more, then scrub the floor with water. If one treatment fails to remove all the stains, keep repeating until success is yours.

Q. How can I clean the dingy-looking gold patterns on dishes?

A. Scrub with a dry toothbrush dipped in bicarbonate of soda. Or, use a moist toothbrush in powdered alum. Let the alum stay on for a couple of hours, then wash and dry the plate as usual.

Q. How can I discourage moths and silverfish in my carpets?

A. These pests have a hearty dislike for printer's ink, and you can capitalize on this by spreading layers of newspapers under your carpets. Put the papers between the carpet and the pad, if you have one—if not, use a heavy layer of newspapers and it will serve as a cushion, too.

Q. How can I clean leather upholstery?

A. Rub the leather with a soft cloth dipped in ordinary milk—or better still, in beaten egg white. When dry, go over the leather again with a clean, soft cloth.

Q. What can I do about water spots on a shellacked surface?

A. Go over these spots lightly and carefully with very fine sandpaper or steel wool. It may be necessary to remove the shellac down to the wood and, if so, apply several very thin coats of fresh shellac.

Q. How can I remove tar stains from silk or worsted materials?

A. Try rubbing these with alcohol.

Junior Editors Quiz on LIBRARIES

QUESTION: By whom was the first public library established?

ANSWER: Digging in the ruins of ancient Ninevah, which flourished about 1300 B. C., excavators found remains of a huge library of clay tablets covered with cuneiform writing. These were the first books and the library is supposed to have been free for people to read. But there were many slaves in those days and this was not a free public library as we know them. Later, using sheets of papyrus for books, the Greeks built many libraries; there were said to be 23 libraries in Rome.

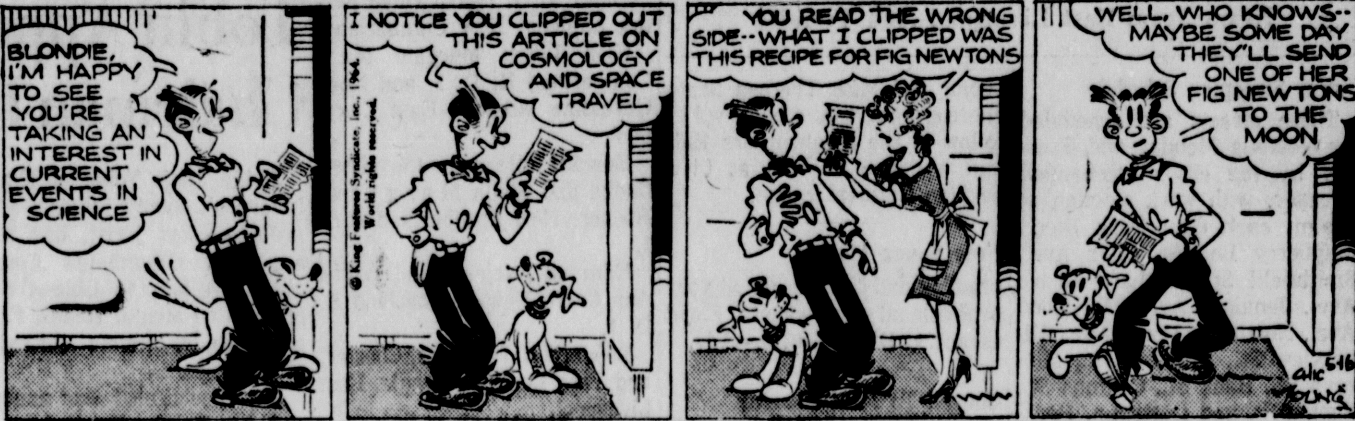

After the fall of the ancient civilization, the use of books was kept alive in Christian monasteries, with a tremendous upsurge of learning during the Renaissance. Great libraries were established in Europe and England; wealthy men endowed libraries for public use. In America, Benjamin Franklin took a step ahead by establishing the first lending library in this country.

The true public library as we know it, besides being free to everyone, is supported by taxes from the community. The honor of starting this system belongs to Peterborough, N. H. where such a modern library was set up in 1833. The idea spread very rapidly; by 1950 there were 7,477 such public library systems in operation.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get to know what your local library has to offer—it belongs to you!

In Mental Health Project

Tobin Appointed County Chairman In State Survey

Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, county juvenile and probate court jurist, has been appointed Columbiana County chairman for the Ohio Comprehensive Mental Health Planning Project of state and federal agencies.

His appointment was announced by Robert Bulkley of Youngstown, regional chairman. Judge Tobin was instrumental in establishing a Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic, organized about a year ago at Lisbon, and operating with a registered psychiatrist and staff.

The project is a two-year study being sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service and its National Institute of Mental Health in co-operation with Ohio's 88 counties and the Ohio State Division of Mental Hygiene.

The project will seek to discover the status of present mental health services and programs, determine the state's mental health needs and create a plan for meeting these needs both current and long range.

The program was given its major impetus under the administration of the late President Kennedy, who said in his message to Congress, that "the time has come for a bold new approach, as new medical, scientific and social tools and insights are now available.

"A series of comprehensive studies initiated by the Congress, the executive branch and interested private groups have been completed and all point in the same direction.

"Governments in every level, federal, state and local, private foundations and individual citizens must all face up to the responsibilities in this area."

Columbiana is one of the nine counties in Region II, which covers most of the northeastern section of Ohio. Judge Tobin will seek help and co-operation from all agencies and individuals in the county to serve as resources and committee members of the planning project.

One of the specific goals is to develop community - based mental health services or comprehensive community mental health centers which would provide multiple services within each community.

Upwards of $10.7 million of federal assistance can come into Ohio provided the county, regional and state planning committees submit comprehensive and workable plans to the U.S. Public Health Service when applying for the federal grants, sponsors said.

The project may be obtained from Judge Tobin at the county Courthouse in Lisbon.

Shippingport Postal Bids Due June 16

Bids for the construction of a new Post Office for Shippingport will be received by June 16, according to the postmaster, Mrs. Florence E. Cook.

Mrs. Cook said the Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids to build and lease a new facility.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said that under the department's lease construction program, the site selected at the South Side of Route 118, adjacent to the Community Building, will be assigned to the successful bidder who will purchase the property, construct the building according to the departmental specifications and lease it to the Post Office Department for a basic period of 10 years, with an option to renew the lease for an additional 20 years.

The department's capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment, Gronouski said, with the building ownership with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents are available from J. S. May, regional real estate officer, at Room 425, Post Office and Courthouse, Pittsburgh.

Wellsville Girl Hurt In Collision

A Wellsville girl was injured in a two - car crash Friday night at 8:40 at the intersection of 10th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, police said.

The traffic light at 10th and Commerce was turned off because of faulty operation. Both claimed to have assured clear distance and started through.

Mrs. Crawford's car hit the McCauley vehicle broadside in the middle of the intersection, officers said.

Patricia Chapman, 16, of 1745 Main St., Wellsville, was treated at City Hospital for injuries of the left arm. She was a passenger in the McCauley vehicle.
